ENVIRONMENTAL AND FORESTRY CERTIFICATIONS

The Programme for the Endorsement of Forest Certification (PEFC) promotes sustainable forest management through independent third party certification. This certification system created by PEFC, a non-profit non-governmental organization that promotes sustainable management of the world's forests. The PEFC system oversees certification of forest management and the Chain of Custody. For information, visit www.pefc.org

The Forest Stewardship Council® is an international non-profit, non-governmental organization that operates worldwide for correct and responsible management of forests and plantations in compliance with stringent environmental, social and economic standards. The FSC® system offers two certification types: forestry management certification, and Chain of Custody certification (CoC), which assures product traceability.

The FSC® mark guarantees that the products are made using material sourced from sustainably managed forests.

The main factors required for certification are: preservation of the biodiversity and the integrity of environmental management, and protection of the rights of workers involved in forestry management.

For information, visit www.fsc.org

The Ecolabel European ecological quality mark was created through Regulation (EC) No. 880/92 of the European Parliament and of the Council, and is known as the "EU flower" because of the logo.

It certifies compliance with stringent ecological criteria defined on a European level throughout the product life cycle, from the use of raw materials to disposal or recovery.

Adoption of the EU Ecolabel is voluntary. The Ecolabel ecological criteria concern limitation of emissions in air and water, use of energy for production, environment and health protection through the restricted use of chemicals and additives.

For information, visit www.eco-label.com

This ecological label, which originated in Germany, is issued if the entire product life cycle is of reduced environmental impact, if the product complies with all environmental protection aspects, and if it respects safety standards.

The label is applied exclusively to 100% recycled paper. Recycled paper certified by Der Blauer Engel also guarantees that production is carried out without the use of chemicals or additives.

For information, visit www.blauer-engel.de

The Elementary Chlorine Free procedure means that chlorine is replaced by chlorine dioxide, leading to a 90% reduction in pollutant emissions.

The Totally Chlorine Free procedure means the complete absence of chlorine and consequently elimination of toxic residues.

Ask us for our certified products.

The Long Life certification means the paper mill recycles more CO2 than it emits. It is also a guarantee of durability because the paper is acid free, in compliance with ISO 9706. This means that certified paper has an extended lifetime.
